

Ex-member of Clan Tells About Manson

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Death is Charlie's trip," says a former member of Charles Manson's hippie-style "family" who claims the ex-convict told him to die several times and once tried to strangle him.

Paul Watkins, 20, who said he once believed that Manson was Jesus Christ, testified at the Sharon Tate murder trial Tuesday about the beginnings of the family, Manson's philosophy and his preoccupation with death.

Once, he said, he and Manson were on an LSD trip together when "he just jumped up and started choking me. He was laying on top of me overpowering me ... He looked into my eyes and smiled and said, 'I'm going to kill you now.'"

Watkins said he smiled at Manson and agreed, "O.K. kill me." At that, he said, Manson released his hold and told him, "If you're willing to die, then you don't have to die."

He said Manson suggested on another occasion that Watkins should "get up on a cross and be crucified" at the nearby Fountain of the World sect which had a large cross.

"I wasn't sure how I'd get up on that cross," said Watkins, laughing. "But I was hep to what was going on. I knew if I was willing to hang up on that cross I wouldn't have to. But I had to be truly willing because Charlie could sense that. He was keen."

Watkins, long-haired and clean shaven, sprawled on the witness stand, frequently laughing during his testimony. He said he had taken LSD "about 150 to 200 times" and that about 30 of the trips had been with Manson.

He said that during the trips Manson described his visions of a coming race war in which none would escape but Manson and his family who would hide in a hole in the desert and return later to take over the world.

whole campus was invited. Guests were given okra as party favors at the door. Okra hung from the ceiling as decorations. To eat there were okra dips and okra petit fours. To drink there was a concoction called hot buttered okra. The fraternity even staged a playlet called "The Night of the Okra."

By the end of the night, the okra was gone. About a week later, that food salesman stopped by the house. "What do you need?" he asked James Joseph.

"I can tell you what I don't need," said James Joseph bitterly, "okra."

"Couldn't get it if you wanted it," said the man, "There's been a big run on the stuff. Seems some house threw a party with the stuff a while back and it was such a success that every fraternity on campus wants okra."

firmed McCormack's figures and released the report, but sharply denied any intent to withhold it. "There is absolutely no truth to that," a spokesman said. McCormack and 11 congressmen from other affected states were given a few hours' advance notice in line with usual policy, he added.

The report added the Los Angeles-Long Beach, San Diego and San Bernardino-Riverside-Ontario areas of California, along with New Brunswick-Perth Amboy, N.J., and Lawrence-Haverhill, Mass., to the list of substantial jobless areas. That brings the total to 38 of the nation's 150 major industrial areas with substantial unemployment.

The report also removed two major areas from the list, Rome-Utica, N.Y., and Kenosha, Wis., because of improved employment, added 13 smaller areas to the substantial jobless list and one—Roundup, Mont.—as a persistent jobless area. It said a total of 626 large and small labor areas are now classified as substantial or persistent jobless areas.

Consumer Agency Heads for Shakeup

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-level Nixon administration source says one of the government's largest consumer-protection agencies is headed for a major shakeup at the hands of a tough, new administrator hired to do just that.

The official is Clayton Yeutter, named three weeks ago as administrator of the Consumer and Marketing Service in the Department of Agriculture. His primary target will be the agency's vast meat and poultry inspection system.

Yeutter, 39, a long-time friend of Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, reportedly has been given the go-ahead for overhauling the cumbersome meat and poultry system. "I think we'll see some tough decisions made and probably some heads roll around here," the source said in an interview. He asked that his name not be used.

"The problem is that C&MS has some very fine people but also too many with very little gray matter between their ears," he said.

Yeutter himself told a reporter it is too soon for sweeping judgments but he did indicate he is studying the agency's organizational structure.

The most pressing job in meat inspection is the Dec. 15 deadline for state compliance with the Wholesome Meat Act of 1967. By then, all states must have inspection programs at least equal to federal standards or face plant takeover by U.S. inspectors.

Ford Earnings Even With Last Year

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has announced that its sales for the first nine months of 1970 were almost even with last year, but earnings were down considerably due to higher labor and materials costs.

Third quarter sales were reported Tuesday at a record $3.4 billion, compared to Ford's previous high third quarter of $3.2 billion in 1969. Net income per share was 68 cents contrasted with 50 cents per share in 1969.

Henry Ford II, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co. said new car sales in the United States for the third quarter were at an 8.9-million-car annual rate and said the rate would be still higher except for the United Auto Workers strike at General Motors.

"Although dollar sales were about the same in the first nine months of 1970 as those in the comparable period of 1969, net income was nine per cent lower this year than last," said Ford.

More Notes in Canadian Kidnaping

MONTREAL (AP) — Two more notes purporting to come from Quebec's political kidnappers turned up Tuesday night. One said the body of British Trade Commissioner James R. Cross could be found near a bridge, and police said it was a hoax. The other contained "the old FIQ bull we've all heard about" and was probably authentic, a police spokesman said.

The fake note said the body of Cross, kidnaped Oct. 5 by the Quebec Liberation Front, or FLQ, was near the St. Rose bridge in Laval, north of Montreal. Police searched the area and found no trace of the 49-year-old Briton.

The other communique, a three-page letter, was accompanied by a passport page bearing the photograph of Paul Rose, one of five men for whom warrants have been issued in the investigation of the kidnaping of Cross and the kidnap-murder of Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte. The last page of the letter also carried one of Rose's fingerprints, the police said.

The letter outlined the FLQ's revolutionary aims but made no mention of Cross, the police said.

Usually booming fall business in downtown Montreal's restaurants, art galleries, boutiques, theaters and department store had dropped an average of 40 per cent since the beginning of the terrorist crisis, the Canadian Press reported in a survey today.

ago to explore the possibilities of developing a youth center and are one of the organizations represented on the committee.

The Board of Directors discussed plans for a joint meeting with the State Highway Department and the Missouri Pacific Railroad on rebuilding the Hervey Street underpass. The directors have requested an engineering study by John E. Hawkins and Associates to determine what can be done to make a standard underpass out of the old structure. The joint meeting is planned for sometime around the middle of November.

The City Directors reviewed the progress of the water development in the industrial area at Oakhaven. One well has been completed and under test was delivering over 400 gallons per minute. This is almost double the production estimated in the engineering plans for the water project.

A second well is now being completed on which tests show that the production will be about the same. These wells are 1200 feet deep and are producing water from a formation known as the Tokio.

The formation covers a vast underground area, extending almost to Murfreesboro and indications are that several million gallons of production a day can be realized from this formation without depleting the reserve of the vast supply.

Sons of Ousted Ecuadorian Dictator Held

By JORGE JURADO

Associated Press Writer

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — The Ecuadorian dictatorship held two sons of the ousted leftist vice president and a son of an exiled provincial chief today, but there was no word on the fate of the kidnapped air force commander.

Truckloads of soldiers patrolled Quito and other cities as the army and national police searched for Gen. Cesar Rohn Sandoval, 45, abducted by several persons from his car Tuesday morning.

President Jose Velasco Ibarra declared martial law. The army stopped publication of four large newspapers, and paratroopers occupied broadcasting stations.

Airports were closed, and the highways were under military control. There were many arrests. The country was under curfew from 9 p.m. until 5 a.m.

Cabinet ministers and high military officers met at the national palace and in the Defense Ministry when they learned of the abduction, and they suspended ceremonies honoring the 50th anniversary of the air force.

Extraordinary security measures were ordered to protect delegations to the celebration from 10 South American countries and the United States, Britain and Spain.

Those arrested included the sons of former Vice President Jorge Zavala Baquerizo, who was ousted by Velasco Ibarra when the 77-year-old president established a dictatorship last June with the backing of the armed forces. Also picked up was the son of Gov. Asaad Bucaram, who fled to Panama after the presidential coup.

The coup was preceded by a period of violent student unrest, and the dictatorship shut down Congress and the universities and rounded up labor and student leaders, university officials and other leftists.

Two Honeymoons Were Rather Short-Lived

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. (AP) — Two couples were married in a double ceremony here Tuesday afternoon, but their honeymoons were short-lived. About 45 minutes after the ceremony, the four returned to their cells in the Baxter County Jail.

Justice of the Peace Ralph Howard performed the ceremony for Zona Crawford, 19, of Dixon, Calif., and Robert Gregory, 19, of Tucson, Ariz., and for Bruce Burr, 19, of Cleveland, Ohio and Ann Pelz, 20, also of Dixon.

The four have been held since Oct. 22 when they were arrested on charges of burglary and grand larceny.

The marriage ceremony took place in the Baxter County Courthouse and courthouse employees supplied a wedding cake.

The girls wore striped cotton knit shirts and jeans. Gregory was in a Navy uniform and Burr wore a cotton sport shirt and jeans. Officials said both Gregory and Burr were AWOL from the Navy.

Gregory said he had been planning to marry Miss Crawford for about a month and Burr said he had been planning to marry Miss Pelz for a "coon's age."

He accused Dale Bumpers, his Democratic opponent, of making errors in his campaign statements and he again criticized the Democratic nominee for allowing a wage of 50 cents per hour in a nursing home in which he has an interest, and for saying that the Rockefeller administration had played politics with welfare by raising grants just before the campaign started.

Earlier Tuesday, Rockefeller told a group of Arkansas AM&N students that he would keep the college open without putting it on an austerity budget.

Rockefeller told about 125 persons at a small airport on the outskirts of Marianna that he had information that Bumpers once had voted for him, rather than the Democratic nominees.

NLR Man Found Shot to Death

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Paul Verser, about 50, of North Little Rock was found shot to death Tuesday night near a service station here where he worked.

Police said Verser's body was found behind the station. He had been shot once in the head.

Authorities said that robbery was the apparent motive for the killing but officers would not say how much money was missing from the station.

Verser was the second service station attendant found shot to death in less than a week in the greater Little Rock area. Last Wednesday, an attendant was killed during an apparent robbery in Southwest Little Rock.

PROTECTION FOR THE RIGHTS OF EVERY INDIVIDUAL

Government must be of laws Peaceful dissent is an absolute right under the Constitution, but the destruction of property and the hindrance of the operation of business and institutions must not be tolerated.

Fair and impartial law enforcement is necessary, but we must not tolerate rioting, destruction of property and other unlawful activities which interrupt the orderly flow of our society.

Technology Alone Can't Solve Problems

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (AP) — A top engineer who serves as a consultant to the space agency says technology can't solve man's problems—man himself must change.

"Lots of people think that technology is a magic wand" that will end pollution, overpopulation and poverty, Vern L. Grose told scientists and engineers Tuesday at the Western Space Congress.

"This is false optimism on the part of the public and they are going to sour on us further if we let them believe that we can solve all their problems."

Grose, an engineer who has held important posts with aerospace contractors for each of the manned space programs, is now a vice president of Tustin Institute of Technology at Santa Barbara, a lecturer at George Washington University and a member of the space agency's safety advisory group for space flight.

Technology can solve problems involving scientific measurements and technical goals, such as a moon landing, Grose said.

But social problems involve love, hate, greed and emotions which can't be "squeezed, counted or touched," he said. "How is a scientist going to work with something like that?"

In an interview, he expressed doubt that people will "forego their own self-interest and make the sacrifices needed to solve these problems."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Another salute to Halloween came along Tuesday night with ABC's creepy thriller, "The House That Wouldn't Die" in its "Movie of the Week" series. It was full of doors opening by themselves, ladies screaming during seances and the wind howling.

But the real chiller of the evening was a segment of CBS's news program, "60 Minutes." It was an account of how, to quote narrator Mike Wallace, "the United States during the Red scare of the 1950s handed China much of her know-how to develop her nuclear capacity."

The report was taken, with credit, from the book "The China Cloud" by Sam Summerlin and William L. Ryan of The Associated Press. Wallace told how the United States encouraged some of the most brilliant Chinese nuclear scientists studying and working in the country to leave, most of them to return to China.

Ninety-six scientists trained in U.S. universities were in the forefront of Chinese nuclear development.

Accompanying this report was some color propaganda film showing China's first three nuclear tests.

Another segment of special interest was an interview by Harry Reasoner with Leila Khaled, the 26-year-old Palestinian guerrilla captured after a gun fight on an El Al airliner she attempted to hijack.

Miss Khaled, a handsome and intense woman, spoke boldly of her involvement in two hijackings—earlier she diverted an Athens-bound TWA plane to Damascus. She explained she was "doing my duty."

She said that in 1948, when she was 4, her family had been forced at gunpoint to leave their home in Haifa, and fled to Lebanon. She agreed, in response to a question, that she was a member of a Marxist-Leninist movement and predicted that the struggle for the restoration of Palestine would go on for "20 or 30 years."

WIMMIN, WIMMIN, WIMMIN!

Dear Helen:

I like the man says, "God made the world in six days and rested on the seventh. Then he made woman, and man hasn't rested since!"

My wife never stops thinking, and every time she does, it's trouble for me! She's like the little big-dumpling-gal on the TV commercial: Whatever she reads about, she has to try.

I won't mention her "prize" recipes — only that I keep the upset stomach remedy people solvent. Nor her venture into homemade neckties when she used Gawdawful flowered remnants in purple, green and pink with yellow background and insisted I wear them to work. (I changed in the car every morning.)

Then she decided I needed exercise and I darn near broke my spine on the gadgets she bought. And once she sprayed my pipes with Lysol!

But this is the last straw. She hooked an oversized salmon (yeah, she's a fisherwoman too), and "baked" it in her dishwasher. That gem of a recipe appeared in our local paper — you wrap the fish in heavy foil, and let it stay in the dishwasher for two complete cycles, the idea being the foil will keep the water out and the juices in.

Fine, great, but — she didn't use enough aluminum foil, or maybe didn't anchor it securely. When she opened the machine, the poor fish was all over the insides, in pieces. I spend two hours scrubbing walls and racks, and we may never get rid of the smell.

Helen, is there any way to turn off a turned-on inventive woman? — SINKING FAST Dear S.F.:

No way, chum, no way! Ask any husband — including mine. — H.

Dear Helen: The government is fighting inflation. So I lost my job due to the evening was notable only for the presence of Barbara Stanwyck playing a woman who had inherited a 200-year-old haunted house. It was unworthy of her acting talent, but she did help make it a diverting 90 minutes.

Don Knotts on NBC later turned up in a weekly show that was several cuts above average.

The comedian was mixed up in a funny running gag about pickpockets. With guest Chuck Connors he rocked on a front porch and talked about girls—a sketch he should have saved until Andy Griffith was along. He was very funny as a TV weatherman whose forecast had not arrived by broadcast time.

"The Don Knotts Show" has not done well in the ratings, but NBC apparently is determined to give it a full season to catch on. It is improving and deserves a second look.

lack of business at the store. My husband, instead of getting his usual raise, got a big salary cut. Meanwhile, our rent was raised, our sales tax was increased, and the prices of food and clothing jump every day. Not much more than a year ago I was buying two pounds of coffee for $1.20. Now it's around $1.79. And meat... wow! When I outfitted our daughter for school last year, I could get nice dresses for $12 to $15. I couldn't touch them for under $25 today. My husband's suits? They once cost $45. Now they're around $100, and not the best at that!

I wouldn't mind getting a smaller monthly check, if the monthly bills would also decrease. But when the first goes down and the second climbs, well, I'm no economist, but this doesn't seem like "deflation" to me. It's more like chaos — or Poorhouseville! Where's it all going to end? — MRS. I'm not sure which well-known commentator said this, but it might be good to cool those overeager teen-agers with this quote: "Sex is vastly overrated. The pleasures are fleeting, and the position is ridiculous." — JOE Dear Joe:

Or, as my husband said after reading an article which predicted an end to sexual privacy — in both films and real life: "The trouble with visual sex is — it can lead to pregnant eyeballs! — H.

Rain Factor on District Grid Play

Rain and wet fields played a big factor in the scores of last week's games in Div. 4AA football. Eudora upset Star City 14 to 0; Arkadelphia had to come from behind to down Malvern 25 to 15; McGehee was hard pressed to win 18 to 12 over Fordyce; Camden came from behind to edge Monticello 15 to 8; Crossett 6 Fairview 0; Hope 6 Magnolia 0.

Hamburg and Warren were the only teams to win handily. Hamburg defeated Dumas 27 to 12 and Warren downed Dermott 29 to 0.

Action this week finds Star City at McGehee; Crossett at Arkadelphia; Camden at Hope; Magnolia at Fairview; Warren at Dumas; Monticello at Fordyce; Hamburg at Lake Village; Eudora at Dermott; and Malvern at Sheridan.

Highlights of the past weekend included: Hamburg's QB Jim Duke three TD passes of 66 and 50 yards to Charles Criver and Steve McDonald; Rusty Quillin grabbed a blocked punt and scored the lone tally for Hope; Monticello's Steve Hamblin had a 80-yard scoring run; Camden's Thomas Willis had a 62-yard scoring punt return; Warren for the third straight game held their opponent scoreless; Crossett used a fumble recovery to record their first conference win of the season; QB Bill Vining directed to long scoring drives to bring the Arkadelphia Badgers from behind against Malvern; McGehee's Ricky Sammons gained 184-yards on 29 carries; John Barnes scored on a 30-yard intercepted pass play for Fordyce; Curt Rankin scored on a 40-yard intercepted pass play for Eudora; Richard Robinson had a 44-yard punt average on nine kicks for Star City. Fordyce became the first team to score two times on McGehee; the Owls of McGehee became the first team to pass the two thousand (2,127) yard mark in rushing.

Freddie Douglas of McGehee holds a one touchdown lead over Luther Guinn of Arkadelphia in the individual scoring race. Douglas has 78 points on 13 TD's. Bill Hurley of Arkadelphia lead the PAT kickers with 22 conversions.

Rain Hampers Preparation by Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Rain hampered the Arkansas Razorbacks Tuesday as they worked out in pads in preparation for Saturday's encounter with Texas A&M.

Coach Frank Broyles said his team needed dry weather "in the worst way" so the Hogs could get ready for the Aggies.

Broyles said that flanker John Rees was sidelined during the practice with a pulled leg muscle. He worked in sweat clothes and is a doubtful participant in Saturday's game.

Muddy Field Workout for Indians

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State's Indians worked out on a muddy field here Tuesday in preparation for a battle Saturday night with Lamar Tech.

Coach Bennie Ellender said the team did not accomplish as much as he had hoped for because of the weather and muddy field.

He said the Tribe expected a tough game with Lamar Tech.

"They're capable of giving us a lot of trouble on the ground," Ellender said.

Foster, High Court in Way of Ex-champ

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court and Bob Foster stood today as the two major blocks to a heavyweight title fight between Muhammad Ali and champion Joe Frazier, a fight that easily could be the richest in history and one of the best.

Figures like $10 million were being bandied about Tuesday, the day after Ali returned to the ring after a 3½-year exile and stopped Jerry Quarry in three rounds by splitting his left eyebrow.

Madison Square Garden in New York wants the Ali-Frazier fight for February and Houston interests also are trying for it.

Buz first there is the appeal of Ali's conviction in 1967 of refusing induction into the Army. Should the Supreme Court refuse to hear the appeal, Ali faces a prison sentence of five years. There is no indication of when this litigation will end.

Then there's the lanky figure of light heavyweight champion Bob Foster who will take his thunderous left hook into the ring in a bid for Frazier's crown in Detroit Nov. 18.

There is also an outside chance that Ali might fight rugged Oscar Bonavena in December for Miami promoter Chris Dundee.

"I could box you and we'd sell out," Ali quipped to a newsman Tuesday as a means of underscoring his gate appeal which in the nation's current social and political climate seems greater than ever.

It is certain that a Frazier-Ali fight would be one of the biggest draws in boxing history.

"There is no limit to what an Ali-Frazier title fight would gross," said Michael Maltz, president of Sports Action, Inc., which copromoted the Ali-Quarry fight. "It could make $10 million—certainly more than any fight in history. We would run out of satellites."

Monday night's fight was shown on closed circuit television to 206 locations, with 900,000 seats, in the United States and Canada. It also was beamed to South America, Europe, Australia, Asia and the Soviet Union.

No receipts are available but Ali's percentage was expected to be about $1 million and Quarry's about $500,000.

Ali, 28, now has a license to fight in New York, a license that was granted after Atlanta cracked the ban against Ali by giving him a license.

Ali was impressed by the warm reception he got from the packed throng of 5,100 in the old Atlanta Municipal Auditorium.

"It's nice feeling when they're for you," said the man who rose to the heavyweight title as Cassius Clay and who knows the feeling of people being against him.

As for his return to the fight game, Ali said, "This is my occupation. Don't you think the people at General Motors who are on strike would be glad to be back to work."

As for Frazier, Ali said, "It'll come. I don't have to talk about it, I'll be home and the phone will be ringing, and he'll be home the phone will be ringing. People want it."

There's already a line on such a fight. It was quoted as even by oddsmaker Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder after he watched Ali's impressive comeback.

As for Quarry, who is only 25, he called the cut, which required 11 stitches, "a set of circumstances. It was luck. I wasn't beat by a better fighter. If I could have gone another round, I could have got back in the fight and won."

The blond Californian said he had no immediate plans about his future.

NCAA Waives Rules in Hardship Case

By JERRY ESTILL
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Council of the NCAA voted Tuesday to sponsor legislation at the group's convention in January to waive eligibility rules in extreme hardship cases.

The decision stemmed from the airplane crash which killed several members of the Wichita State football team earlier this year.

The 18-member council said it could not change the rules without an amendment approved by the full membership of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, although it was sympathetic to the Wichita State case.

The legislation to be proposed would stipulate that large numbers of a team would have to be disabled before the eligibility waiver would occur.

In the Wichita State case, rules allow a freshman to participate in varsity football, but NCAA regulations would block these freshmen from participating in any post-season activity in their senior year.

In other action, the council informally approved a report from a financial aid committee to limit the number of scholarships each school can give and

Picks Texas, Ohio State, Nebraska

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Something's gotta give this weekend in the Big Ten and Ivy League football races.

Ohio State and Michigan are unbeaten and supposedly heading toward a showdown battle in Columbus on Nov. 21. But a glance at the Big Ten standings show that the second-ranked Buckeyes and fifth-ranked Wolverines have company in the Wildcats of Northwestern.

Northwestern hasn't had a winning season since 1963. But the Wildcats have won three straight league games after dropping their three nonconference tilts and are ranked 20th this week in The Associated Press poll.

Northwestern visits Ohio State on Saturday while Michigan to require that scholarships be awarded only on a financial need formula.

The other part of the three-part program suggested by the committee would establish one date on which all member schools could issue scholarship invitations and establish a one week "quiet period" immediately after the scholarships are offered. During this period no coach could contact a high school prospect.

The idea is to allow the athlete to decide which school he wants to attend without outside pressure. Once the decision is made it can't be changed without forfeiture of a certain period of eligibility.

The net effect of the three-part proposal would be to drastically cut athletic costs and equalize competition.

plays at Wisconsin.

Barring a tie between Dartmouth and Yale, the Ivy League will have only one leader Saturday after those two unbeaten clash in the Yale Bowl before a crowd expected to approach 60,000.

Northwestern at Ohio State—"If you think you're going to get a quote on that, you're not," Woody Hayes told a newsman Tuesday after the Buckeyes, though still unbeaten, dropped from first to second in the AP poll this week. "I've got more important things to do."

That means plotting to get the Bucks back on top, which a lopsided victory might accomplish. Hello Columbus; goodbye Northwestern, Ohio State.

Michigan at Wisconsin—It's a good thing the Badgers beat Indiana last weekend because all they've got coming up is Michigan, followed by Ohio State.

Dartmouth at Yale—Both teams have swift-striking attacks and both rank among the national leaders in most defensive categories. Yale won the series opener 113-0 back in 1884 but times have changed. Dartmouth.

Dandridge Has Punch for Bucks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Milwaukee Bucks don't always go as Lew Alcindor and Oscar Robertson go. Guys like Bob Dandridge can supply a little push, too.

The Bucks survived Alcindor's foul troubles and Robertson's off-night Tuesday as Dandridge pumped in 39 points in a 126-113 victory over the San Diego Rockets at Milwaukee.

The New York Knicks, however, looked again to Willis Reed for a 117-104 triumph over the Seattle SuperSonics, while the Portland Trail Blazers whipped the Buffalo Braves 119-108.

In the American Basketball Association, Pittsburgh upended Virginia 114-110, Memphis beat Denver 102-94 and Texas edged New York 103-99 in the only games.

Dandridge scored 20 of his points in the first half and the Bucks seemed on their way to an easy victory with a 61-53 lead. But Alcindor picked up his fifth foul and San Diego cut a 22-point deficit to 82-75 before Dandridge and the Milwaukee reserves exploded into a 105-84 spread. The reserves finished with a total of 35 points.

Alcindor finished with only 20 points, 16 below his average, while Robertson had only 19. Elvin Hayes scored 34 for the Rockets.

The Knicks were muddling along with a 48-44 halftime lead and Reed had only six points and four rebounds. But he scored six points in a 10-3 run in the third period for an 81-70 lead, and the Sonics never got closer than nine again.

Reed had 11 points and 10 rebounds in the third quarter and finished with 19 points, while teammates Dave DeBusschere had 22 and Cazzie Russell 20. Len Wilkens had 24 for the Sonics.

Portland converted 45 of 60 free throws in handing injured-riddled Buffalo its fourth consecutive setback. Stan McKenzie led the Trail Blazers with 27 points including 17-of-19 from the free throw line. John Hummer topped the Braves with 23 points.

Young Lions to Challenge Veterans

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A hungry, impatient horde of golf's young lions stood ready to challenge faltering Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper for the favorite's role today on the eve of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament.

Both Nicklaus, the defending champion and reigning British Open title-holder, and Casper, the Masters champion, had their troubles last week.

Each missed the cut for the final two rounds in the Kaiser International, only the second time this year they had failed to qualify for the final 36 holes.

But the two giants of the game remained the top choices with Las Vegas' legal bookies in the 72-hole chase for the $20,000 first prize that begins Thursday over a pair of par-71 desert layouts.

Both the Paradise Valley and Sahara Nevada Country Club courses will be used for the first two rounds, the golfers switching courses each day.

The final two rounds, Saturday and Sunday, will be played on the 7,109-yard Paradise Valley layout.

The failures of Casper and Nicklaus last week dropped them out of the one-two spots on the money winning list—Lee Trevino took over on a second place finish—and had some of the younger players eyeing the first place spot here.

Among the leading contenders are Gibby Gilbert, who won the Houston Champions International this year and took a solid 69 in Tuesday's pro-am, $100,000-plus winner Larry Hinson and a couple of strong young Californians who have played well in recent weeks, Dick Lotz and Bob Lunn.

Some other top choices include Bert Yancey, who lost in a playoff to Ken Stoll last week and appears at the top of his game, always-dangerous Frank Beard, Mason Rudolph, tough little Dave Hill, PGA champion Dave Stockton and possibly still, "I'm hitting the ball just super," said Hill, who missed a tie for the top by just one stroke last week. "If I can start making some putts, ol' Davey will be tough."

Trevino is not competing. He is in Australia for a tournament. Also among the missing are Arnold Palmer and England's Tony Jacklin, the U.S. Open titlist.

Senators and Flood Come to Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outfielder Curt Flood, engaged in an antitrust battle over baseball's reserve clause, has come to salary terms with the Washington Senators, the Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper said Flood flew from Copenhagen for a weekend meeting with Senators owner Robert E. Short in New York. Flood's salary was estimated at more than the $90,000 he was paid by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Short and baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn declined comment on the story. Flood, the Post said, presumably returned to Denmark after the New York meeting.

"It is believed that Short did not insist that Flood withdraw his antitrust suit against organized baseball while playing for the Senators," the newspaper said.

"Short is dealing with Flood in the hope the commissioner's office will consent to the player's return to the game if he signs the standard reserve-clause contract and despite the still-pending damage suit by Flood."

After he was traded by the Cardinals to Philadelphia, Flood filed a $4.1 million damage suit, contending he was victimized by the antitrust nature of the reserve clause. The clause prohibits a player from negotiating with any team except the one which holds his contract.

The Senators obtained rights to Flood after the Phillies were unable to sign him.

Cowboy Is Pro Lineman of the Week

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — It was in the closing minutes of the game Sunday and Kansas City quarterback Lenny Dawson was attempting somehow to overcome a 27-16 Dallas lead.

Dawson faded to pass. And then a 260-pounder, coming from his blind side, drove Dawson into the ground. Dawson gave his chief tormentor, Cowboys defensive tackle Jethro Pugh, a hard stare.

Pugh said later "that's the greatest feeling in the world for a defensive tackle—next to scoring a touchdown or a safety, of course."

The 6-foot-7 Pugh dropped Dawson for losses four times and was credited with 11 unassisted tackles. His performance earned him The Associated Press National Football League Defensive player of the Week laurels.

"The Kansas City victory was one of my biggest thrills because it came after that Minnesota thing," Pugh said.

"Not only did Minnesota beat us bad (54-13) but my car wouldn't start when I got back to the airport," Pugh said. "We had to have the KC game."

Pugh credits fellow defensive tackle Bob Lilly with much of his success.

"I dread the day when that man retires," said Pugh, who noted that Lilly was double-teamed 19 times and triple-teamed three times by Kansas City blockers, leaving Pugh in a one-on-one situation against Chief offensive guard Mo Moorman.

Pugh, a graduate of Elizabeth City State, N.C. said he got off to a slow start this year "because I was keying too much ... waiting too much ... looking too much. I wasn't playing enough on instinct and reaction. I talked with (defensive line) coach (Ernie) Stautner and he agreed I should blow and go more."

DROPPING IN on a cruising boat, Billy McGaha gets frolisome after setting a para-sail flight record of four hours, 54 minutes and 13 seconds. McGaha covered 185 miles in establishing the mark at Nevada's Lake Mead, near Las Vegas.

Dayton Player Takes Over Rushing Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Kosins was in a big hurry on the football field and his leaps to daylight rushed him right up to the top of college football's runners.

Dayton's power runner accounted for 236 rushing yards last Saturday and the figure zoomed his average per game to 170.5. Ed Marinaro of Cornell, last week's leader, dropped to second with a 62-yard effort and average of 162.0.

Kosins became a triple-threat man with his weekend's efforts. The slaying, 210-pounder also dropped Marinaro in the all-purpose running category and maintained his scoring lead with 16 points a game. Kosins holds a narrow edge—178.2 yards a game to 178.1—over North Carolina's Don McCauley in all-purpose running as Marinaro dropped to fourth.

Stanford's Jim Plunkett went from No. 2 to No. 1 in the total offense category, NCAA figures disclosed today. The sharp-shooting quarterback replaced Bill Craig of the U. Texas-El Paso with a rushing-passing yards-per game average of 277.0. Craig dropped to sixth.

Washington's Sonny Sixkiller is the new passing leader with 20 passes completed per game. He has amassed 1,496 air yards.

In punting, Utah's Marv Bateman stayed in control a fifth straight week with a 47.1-yard average.

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — David "Spec" Goldman of Dallas won medal honors Tuesday with a three-under-par 69 in the North and South Seniors Golf Championship. That gave him a 36-hole total of 137.

Marsh Named Player of Week in SWC

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
At one point in the Texas A&M game, Baylor's Ed Marsh felt lower than an amoeba at high noon on the Sahara.

That was right after last year's NCAA punting leader had stroked a punt for the grand total of 10 yards.

"I just thought I'd die if I didn't do something to make up for that punt," said Marsh who had dashed 54 yards for a touchdown with an intercepted pass on the last play of the first half.

The poor punt put A&M into position deep in Baylor territory with slightly more than a minute on the clock and the Bears leading 29-24.

"I knew he (Lex James) was going to throw deep and I was just waiting..." Marsh said. "I had to shake that punt off... and then here came (A&M wide receiver) Hugh McElroy on a cross pattern. I stayed with him and caught the ball just before it went out of bounds."

Marsh was almost beaten to death by his joyous Baylor teammates on the sidelines as the Bears ran out the clock.

For his play, Marsh was named The Associated Press defensive player of the week.

Steve Worster, Texas' freight train fullback, was selected as the offensive player of the week for his 170 yards rushing against Rice in the Longhorns' 45-21 victory.

Marsh said he got some tremendous blocks on his touchdown return.

"I'm not very fast," Marsh said. "But let me tell you I was running faster than I can."

Marsh said "I have never seen such a quick change from defense to offense. Mike Beane, Roger Goree and Trent Phipps got some great blocks ... Yeah,

I think I ran into the Aggie band behind the end zone ... I was so happy I don't remember."

Marsh, a senior from Vernon, Tex., said the victory over A&M "Was the sweetest I've ever been associated with. I think we as a team feel like we are a heckuva lot closer as a unit."

Other defensive players receiving votes include Texas linebacker Scott Henderson, and Texas Tech defensive end Bruce Dowdy.

On offense, the other vote getters were Texas Tech quarterback Charles Napper and Baylor receiver Derek Davis.

Worster said "It takes an all-out effort for me to do something well. I don't feel I'm blessed with a great ability, so I have to put forth extra effort."

Texas Coach Darrell Royal said Worster is deserving of the Heisman Trophy.

"I guess it's all on ballyhoo, but if they're going to pick it on game performance, they're going to have to start mentioning this boy."

Royal said Worster's running style reminds him of a "Trout jerked out of a cold stream, fighting and flapping ..."

Things Change Fast in Pro Football Play

By DICK COUCH

NEW YORK (AP) — A few weeks ago, New Yorkers were calling for Fran Tarkenton's head on a chopping block. Now they're tipping their hats to the Giants' quarterback following his finest hour in a decade of National Football League play.

Tarkenton, a convenient scapegoat when the Giants blew first-half leads in three consecutive losses at the outset of the season, silenced his critics last Sunday with a flurry of five

Casper Adds Another Chunk of Gold

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Billy Casper, winner of this year's Masters golf tournament, added another chunk of gold to his trophy collection Tuesday night when he was named the PGA's Player of the Year.

The presentation was made to the 39-year-old Californian during the annual president's dinner at the Palm Beach Towers, honoring Leo Fraser, retiring president of the Professional Golfers' Association.

Casper, named Player of the Year in 1966, was selected this year in close competition with the 1967 winner—Jack Nicklaus.

In accepting the award, Casper said "I'd have to say that from week to week Jack is the best player on the tour today."

The winner of 47 other major PGA tournaments including the 1966 National Open, Casper said he hoped to compete in the National PGA Championships to be held Feb. 25-28 at the PGA National Golf Club at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.

Casper has had to avoid the Florida segment of the pro tour because of an allergy to insecticides used on local grasses but said he'd "try to play in at least one Florida tournament in 1972."

The 30-year-old signal-caller was selected today by The Associated Press as the NFL's Offensive Player of the Week.

For some time, Tarkenton has borne the rap that, despite his passing and scrambling skills, he doesn't win the big games.

But he staged the most productive aerial show of his career against the favored Cardinals in a game the Giants could not afford to lose.

Anderson of LSU Lineman of the Week

By HERSCHEL NISSESON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Mike Anderson diagnoses plays on television so it isn't surprising that the Louisiana State linebacker is able to do it on the football field, too.

One of Anderson's spur-of-the-moment diagnoses turned out to be just what the doctor ordered Saturday and preserved LSU's 17-9 Southeastern Conference triumph over previously unbeaten Auburn.

With less than four minutes to play, Auburn completed a pass from the LSU 31 to the eight-yard line. Wallace Clark cracked off left tackle and Anderson stopped him at the five. Clark hit the same spot again and Anderson and two others nailed him at the two.

Mickey Zofko carried next but slipped on the rain-soaked turf and fell for no gain. Then Clark got the call on fourth down but Anderson stopped him for no gain.

Over-all, Anderson made six unassisted tackles, helped out on six others and batted down a pass, a performance that earned him National Lineman of the Week honors from The Associated Press.

After the game, Coach Charlie McClendon disclosed how important his 6-foot-3, 225-pound senior was on that fourth-down play.

"Anderson made a minor adjustment on his own just before the play," McClendon said. "He moved defensive tackle John Sage into a position to draw two blockers, Auburn's tackle and guard, leaving the path open for Anderson to step right in and make the stop. I don't think there's another man on the squad physically strong enough to have made that tackle. And nothing less than a perfect tackle would have kept Auburn from scoring."

Anderson said Auburn "split out three receivers on that play to try to get our defense spread out. I usually go to the tight end's side, but there was no tight end. I just grabbed Sage and pulled him over from outside the tackle toward the guard. He went through and took out both blockers."

Anderson is one of the main reasons LSU leads the nation in rushing defense, yielding only 47.2 yards per game, and hasn't permitted a touchdown on the ground in nine games dating back to last season.

The Tigers' placekicker, Mark Lumpkin, who lives next door to Anderson in Baton Rouge, likes to recount the time one Sunday afternoon he could hear the sound of Anderson's television set and Mike shouting, "Draw, draw, draw!"

Vols' Scott Is College Back of Week

By ESCAR THOMPSON
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee Coach Bill Battle and his staff felt that Florida would set its defenses to stop the Vol running attack.

After all, Florida Coach Doug Dickey had been the Vol mentor for six years before moving to Gator country last winter and he knew well the rushing abilities of Curt Watson and Don McLeary, the Tennessee running backs.

So Battle and his offensive coaches came up with a game plan to throw the football. This put the burden on quarterback Bobby Scott.

Scott rattled Florida with passes, completing 21 of 38 for a record 385 yards as the Vols humbled the Gators and their old coach, 38-7. This virtuoso performance won Scott acclaim as The Associated Press Back of the Week.

"It feels great," the senior from Rossville, Ga., said when told he had been named Back of the Week. "But I had a lot of help. I think our offensive line and the receivers ought to get the credit. They're the ones who made it possible."

Battle said, "I don't see how it could have been anyone else. You seldom see a quarterback have as great a game as Bobby did against Florida."

One of the first to congratulate Scott after the emotion-filled contest was Dickey, who had recruited Bobby.

"You did a fine job, Bobby," Dickey said as he shook his former player's hand.

Later in the dressing room, Dickey said, "Tennessee burned us on the big play. Bobby Scott had a big day and showed tremendous poise. I've seen him have big days before. He is a fine quarterback."

Scott, Tennessee's No. 1 quarterback for two seasons, has never been rated in the all-star class with some of the players he has opposed. But he has managed generally to more than hold his own with the superstars.

Discusses Music

JAMES M. HART

Kiwanian James M. Hart, Music and Education Director of First Baptist Church presented the program at Tuesday's meeting of the Hope Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Hart outlined something of the history of The Centurymen, a rather distinguished organization of musicians from churches affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention, and played recordings made by the Centurymen.

There are some 1,800 full time Ministers of Music, professional musicians, serving Southern Baptist Churches. The music department of the Radio and TV Commission of SBC of Ft. Worth, Texas, headed by Miss Jo Ann Shelton invited each of these musicians to audition by tape recording for possible selection as a member of The Centurymen, a choir of all male voices. From this number 300 were selected to audition in person before a panel of music educators from a number of major universities. From the 300 personally auditioning 85 regular members and 15 alternates were chosen to make up the singing group known as The Centurymen. Mr. Hart was one of those chosen as a regular member of the group.

Some months ago The Centurymen appeared on a TV Special by NBC from New York titled The Centurymen in Concert. In June they sang on the program of the annual meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention held in Denver, Colorado, and in July they were invited to be the featured choir in Washington, D.C. on the Honor America Day program. Among others, Kate Smith, Bob Hope, and Billy Graham appeared on this nationally telecast program on July 4th.

Mr. Hart explained that though all the music of The Centurymen was not religious music in the strictest sense, each concert was presented for the Glory of God and to draw men of all faiths closer together.

Visiting with the Kiwanians on Tuesday were Tom Berry, local Boy Scout Official, Bob Shumaker of Texarkana, Scout

Tech's Fisher Takes Over Passing Lead

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Tech quarterback Phil Fisher, a 170-pound junior, has taken over the passing lead in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference.

Fisher, who passed for 284 yards last week against Missouri Southern has completed 38 of 75 attempts for 640 yards and eight touchdowns. Harding's Tommy Lewey has passed for 638 yards and Ouachita's Barry Bennett, the leader a week ago, has thrown for 636 yards.

Johnny Baker of Ouachita continues to lead in rushing, total offense, and scoring with 967 yards and 11 touchdowns.

Harding's Ronnie Peacock is the leading receiver with 42 catches for 567 yards and six touchdowns.

Canucks Turn Tide With Key Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bud Poile played second fiddle to Punch Imlach at last June's National Hockey League draft in Montreal.

By a stroke of luck, the Vancouver Canuck general manager found himself taking second choice to Imlach's Buffalo Sabres in three phases of the NHL's system of player selection—the amateur draft, league draft and inter-league draft.

As the league's two new members, both clubs were starting from scratch and the players made available by the other 12 clubs were a motley group at best with few exceptions.

Tuesday night marked the first meeting of the season between the expansionists in the only league game scheduled. This time it was turnabout as Poile's Canucks turned in an impressive 7-2 victory over the Sabres.

The triumph firmly entrenched Vancouver in fourth place in the East Division with eight points, three behind Boston, New York and Montreal—all tied for the lead.

Buffalo remained in a fifth-place tie with Detroit, each with five points and three points ahead of cellar-dwelling Toronto.

Seven players shared the Vancouver scoring. Len Lunde,

Dale Tallon, Rosaire Paiement, Mike Corrigan, Wayne Maki, Andre Boudrias and Barry Wilkins were the Canucks' goal-producers. Randy Wyrozub collected both Buffalo tallies.

Japan Captures Five Medals in Gymnastics

LJUBLJANA. Yugoslavia (AP) — For want of skill on a pommel horse, a gold medal sweep was lost.

Japan, reaffirming its supremacy in gymnastics, captured five of a possible six golds in Tuesday's men's competition at the conclusion of the 17th annual World Gymnastics Championships, failing only to capture the pommel horse title won by Yugoslavia's Miroslav Cerar.

Akinora Nakayama was the most productive, winning the free standing, rings and parallel bars events. Eizo Kennotsu won the gold in the fixed bar and Mitsuo Tsukahara was best in long horse competition.

Keunotsu also became the individual over-all men's world champion while the women's individual crown was won by Russia's Ludmila Turistcheva. East Germany, led by double-gold winner Erika Zuchold, topped the team standings, followed by Russia and defending champion Czechoslovakia.

The competition also provided excitement for the United States as Cathy Rigby of Long Beach,

Squires Handed First Setback by Condors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pittsburgh's Condors swooped down against an unsuspecting group of Southern gentlemen, then flew away with the Virginia Squires' first setback of the American Basketball Association season.

The Squires, winners of their first six ABA encounters, visited Pittsburgh Tuesday night and came away on the short end of a 114-110 score.

In the only other ABA games, the Texas Chaparrals shot down New York 103-99 for their first victory of the season and the Memphis Pros belted Denver 102-94.

In National Basketball Association action, the New York Knicks ripped Seattle 117-104, Milwaukee slammed San Diego 126-113 and Portland turned back Buffalo 119-108.

John Brisker and C. L. Williams shared the Condor spotlight, pouring in 28 points apiece

Calif., took the silver medal in the balance beam, the first time in the post-World War II era that a U.S. girl has won any medal in a world championship event.

Miss Zuchold also took the gold in the long horse event, Miss Turistcheva was first in the free exercise and Karin Janz of East Germany won the parallel bars competition.

Judicial Power Would Consolidate

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The proposed Constitution of 1970 would consolidate into three courts the judicial power of eight courts authorized by the current state charter.

A fourth court, a Court of Appeals that would act as an intermediate appellate court, could be activated by the Supreme Court if the need arose.

The other three courts named by the proposed constitution are the Supreme Court, District Courts and County Trial Courts.

The functions of the Circuit, Chancery, Probate and County Courts would be given to the District Courts. The document would authorize the legislature to divide the District Courts into areas of jurisdiction, such as law, equity and family. Judges would be elected to six-year terms on a nonpartisan basis.

Circuit judges currently are elected to four-year terms and chancellors to six-year terms on a partisan basis.

County Trial Courts would assume jurisdiction of the functions of Municipal Courts, Courts of Common Pleas and Justice of the Peace Courts, plus numerous minor courts that are not specifically authorized by the Constitution of 1970.

The optional Court of Appeals was included in the proposed constitution by the Constitutional Convention in the event the Supreme Court's caseload became such that it would need help. Cases could be appealed to the Supreme Court from the intermediate court, but the convention delegates hoped that many cases that normally would go to the Supreme Court could be settled in the Court of Appeals.

There would be no change from current constitutional provisions setting the number of Supreme Court justices at seven and their terms at eight years. The judges, however, would run without party label.

Under the proposed constitution, the Supreme Court would have primary administrative responsibility for the judicial system, including the establishment of judicial district boundaries.

Now, the legislature has primary authority for determining the administrative responsibility of the judicial system. It also sets the judicial boundaries.

The new constitution would establish a Judicial Ethics Commission to investigate violations of laws or canons of ethics and the mental or physical disability of judges. The 1974 Constitution contains no such provisions.

Would Turn Glass Into New Cash Mitchell Meets Enforcement Officers Friday

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The City of Newark is trying to turn old glass into new cash for community groups.

In a joint program with Owens-Illinois Glass Co., the city is setting up collection points in various parts of the city to gather old glass bottles and jars which can be processed to make new glass.

The company will pay $20 a ton which will go to groups such as the Police Athletic League.

Few Issues in Secretary of State Race

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Secretary of State Kelly Bryant, a Democrat, seeks a fifth term in Tuesday's general election against Republican Jim Sheets.

The campaign has involved few issues.

Bryant, 62, formerly of Hope, has done little campaigning and his advertisements have generally been limited to small spaces in newspapers.

He said the responsibilities of the office have kept him from making many campaign ventures and a lack of funds has made it impossible for him to advertise widely.

Sheets, a former legislator, has made heavy use of television and newspaper advertising and has raised the few matters that pass for issues in the contest.

One of the points raised by Sheets was that Bryant's wife is on the payroll of the secretary of state's office.

The situation, however, has existed for years, has been common knowledge around the state Capitol and is in line with a pre-Bryant tradition in the office, which has a constitutionally limited salary of $5,000 per year.

Bryant said his wife had been on the payroll since 1963, now is third in command of the office as executive secretary and this year will draw a total of $9,434.46.

Sheets, 39, has said in his advertisements that he has some "new ideas that are in tune with the direction we're moving" but the commercials don't say what the ideas are.

He has asserted, also, that Bryant's office has been a hangout for old guard politicians, to which Bryant replied that Sheets had been a frequent visitor to the office while in the legislature.

Bryant had no primary opponent.

Sheets, a onetime public relations man for John Brown University at Siloam Springs, polled 35,954 to win the Republican nomination in the Aug. 25 preferential primary over John

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and a baker's dozen of the nation's top law officers meet Friday for a discussion of the escalation in police shootings and terrorist bombings.

The conference grew out of an invitation dropped by the attorney general in a speech earlier this month to the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Such a meeting, Mitchell said then, "would be most constructive and most helpful in clarifying all of the problems relating to these subject matters."

Adding urgency to the attempt to find solutions are figures released recently by the IACP showing 560 attacks on policemen and 21 deaths for the three-month period starting last July 1.

The IACP count also listed 141 bombings during the period.

Among the problems likely to be discussed by the 13 state and local law enforcement heads invited: Alleged failure of federal authorities to pass on some information to local police.

Such a failure was alluded to last summer when several Midwestern mayors met in Omaha, Neb., after a rash of bombings in their cities. But Omaha Mayor Eugene Leahy, who raised the charge, refused to elaborate.

A subsequent meeting with Mitchell quieted complaints by the mayors, but similar rumblings have come out of several police organizations, including the IACP.

Mitchell last week said there had been no substantiation of any such allegations that reached him. And FBI officials, publicly making no comment, angrily denied in private that information needed by police would ever be withheld.

One purpose of the meeting undoubtedly will be to acquaint the police officials with new federal laws restricting legal access to explosives and increasing penalties for illegal use.

The new laws also give the FBI immediate jurisdiction in campus bombings and authorize use of electronic surveillance in suspected bombing plots.

The officials also may suggest Mitchell change his stance on proposals that killing a policeman be made a federal crime. The attorney general has Thompson of Morrilton, who had 16,881 votes.

Bryant is vice president of the National Association of Secretaries of State. If re-elected in Arkansas, he would automatically become president of the organization.

Scores Bumpers for Ad on Unemployment

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Leona Troxell, director of the state Employment Security Division, said Tuesday that a political advertisement of Dale Bumpers, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, which stated that Arkansas' unemployment rate is the highest in more than a decade was not true.

Advertisements in two Little Rock newspapers that pictured Dr. Bob Riley, the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, with a beard were placed by Bob Trout of Hot Springs.

Trout, a longtime friend and associate of former Gov. Orval Faubus, confirmed today that it was he who placed the ads.

Riley, a political science professor at Ouachita Baptist University, claims the ads were tended to depict him as a "radical" professor. Riley says he grew the beard as "a matter of comfort."

The advertisement, which was run Sunday in the Arkansas Gazette and the Arkansas Democrat, asked "Will the Real Dr. Riley Please Stand Up?" and carried a dark photograph of Riley with a beard and another of him smooth-shaven.

One bore the caption "Riley, the bearded professor of 1968" and the other said "Riley, the smooth-shaven candidate of 1970."

At the bottom of the ad was a line that said "Paid for by Otto Walls."

State Rep. Sterling Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock, Riley's Republican opponent, had disavowed any participation in the ad, which he said "upset" him.

He said he feared the voters would blame him for pulling a "cheap trick." He said he did not know who Walls was.

British Plan to Contribute More to NATO

LONDON (AP) — The Conservative government announced plans today to increase Britain's military contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and keep a small force in Southeast Asia. But it said it plans to cut back on over-all defense spending.

"The maintenance and improvement of our military contribution to NATO" will be the nation's top defense priority, Prime Minister Edward Heath's government said in the first policy statement on defense issued since it took office in June.

The main new contribution will be the aircraft carrier Ark Royal, which will be assigned to the supreme commander of allied forces in Europe, the statement said. The Labor government had planned to scrap both of Britain's carriers, the Ark Royal and the Eagle, in 1972.

In addition, Britain's part-time volunteer territorial reserve force is to be re-established and expanded. This will provide an additional armored car regiment that will be available for emergencies and for use by the allied command.

A third new contribution will be four extra close-support air squadrons. These are to be created by extending an existing British-French program for producing new Jaguar supersonic close-support planes.

The government said it would spend $67.2 million less than the Labor government had planned for defense in fiscal 1971-72, and $316.8 million less than the Laborites would have spent in 1974-75.

Elena Is Now Happy With Her Ears

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Elena Arroyo is happy—very happy—because at last she has ears that stick out like any other 7-year-old girl's.

Elena was born without ears in a remote Otomi Indian village 200 miles northeast of Mexico City.

There weren't even any openings where her ears should have been.

"Several tribesmen told her parents that they should kill her," says Miss Vola Griste, a missionary of the Wycliffe Bible Translators who has spent 27 years among the Otomis.

"But her mother had been converted to Christianity, and she told them she couldn't do that, that the Lord gave her to them for some purpose. Right then and there, I pledged to help that little girl."

When Elena was old enough last year, Miss Griste took her to Oklahoma City, where an ear surgeon had offered his services.

"When the doctor finished he told me he didn't think he had done her any good," recalls Miss Griste. He was wrong. After a postoperative period, Elena could hear. Miss Griste considers it a miracle.

Elena began to learn to talk, but Otomi girls wear their hair long, pulled back off the ears, and if Elena couldn't do that she wouldn't have much of a future.

Executives of Realistic Industries, an Oakland firm that makes cosmetic restorations, heard about Elena and offered to help.

Money for the trip was raised through the efforts of James Santos, a United Auto Workers member employed at Realistic. A few weeks ago Elena was brought here to be measured for artificial ears.

This week she came back, a sober little girl with her black hair combed straight down, hiding ears that weren't there.

She walked out radiant, her hair pushed back behind her new ears in proper Otomi style.

"She was all giggly," said Miss Griste. "Kept looking at the mirrors around her and taking her hair, a strand at a time, placing it behind her ears."

The plastic ears are attached with a special adhesive.

Murder Trial in Third Day

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The first-degree murder trial of John Laughton Taylor, 25, of the Hardin Community moved into its third day today in Circuit Court here.

Taylor is accused in the April 29 shooting death of his wife, Vickie Lou, at their home. Taylor has pleaded innocent to the charge, claiming temporary insanity.

Prosecutor Joe Holmes rested the state's case late Tuesday afternoon after the jury heard the testimony of several witnesses.

Overpayment on Saturn 5 Charged

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress' watchdog investigating agency says the builder of the Apollo Saturn 5 rocket booster increased potential earnings at least $695,000 by overstating costs $2.7 million.

It says the overstatement by the Boeing Co. was found in a check of a third of the materials cost for the first-stage boosters that blast astronauts off Cape Kennedy.

The findings of General Accounting Office investigators on part of the $1 billion contract for 15 Saturn boosters were in a report released Tuesday.

It said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has accepted a recommendation to evaluate other Boeing material cost estimates for the Saturn 5 and "obtain appropriate price adjustments from the contractor."

The report quoted Boeing as disputing most of the alleged cost overstatements and NASA as disputing one of them.

The GAO, which seldom names contractors in its reports, said Boeing's cost overstatements increased its potential earnings because under the contract the government pays costs plus an incentive fee.

"As a result," the report said, "the total fee Boeing could earn under the contract was increased by about $695,000."

John Lennon Sought as Tate Witness

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Lennon of the Beatles is being sought as a witness in the Sharon Tate murder trial. The defense wants him to say whether the group's songs could have inspired Charles Manson to violence.

"We want John Lennon to testify," a defense source said in an interview Tuesday. "We feel he may want to explain the lyrics."

The state has asserted that Manson ordered his followers to kill Miss Tate and six others in August 1969, aiming to trigger a race war which he felt was predicted in a Beatles song, "Helter Skelter."

The source, who asked not to be identified, said the defense had been trying for months to subpoena Lennon, believed to be in the Los Angeles area, but "there is an unbelievable wall surrounding him."

He added, "We still hope to reach him. He's the most articulate and philosophical of the Beatles and he understands his social and political effect on the world."

The defense case is scheduled to open next week—the 21st week of the trial. The source said it would last about a month. Manson, 35, and three young women followers are charged with murder-conspiracy in the slayings.

Other entertainment personalities have been subpoenaed, the source said. Among those scheduled to take the stand are Mama Cass Elliot and John Phillips, both former members of the Mamas and the Papas singing group.

Both are said to have known Manson in 1968 when he tried for a career as a musician and socialized with recording personalities.

"All of these people are extremely reluctant to testify," said the source, "but they are under subpoena."

He said the women defendants in the case are not expected to take the witness stand.

Manson is scheduled to be the last witness for the defense.

Much of his testimony is expected to be his version of the philosophy he preached to members of his hippie-type "family."

A four-pronged defense is planned, the source said. It will seek to:

- Cast doubt concerning the identity of the killers. "We are going to try to prove that other people committed the offenses."
- Discredit the testimony of Linda Kasabian, the state's star witness, by calling character witnesses to say she was known to lie. Among them will be a social worker who says Mrs. Kasabian told her she was out of California when the murders occurred.
- Rebut the prosecution's case by calling to the stand every key person named in testimony. Several prosecution witnesses may be recalled. Also on call are persons named as having provided knives or other implements allegedly used in the crimes.
- Explore Manson's philosophy by putting family members on the stand. "There are probably about 10 members still in this area. They will really elucidate the philosophy of Manson and show his benevolent side. They will show him as a great nonleader who sometimes kissed people's feet and usually was the last to eat at dinner time."

"Here we're starting to move into the bizarre," said the source. "It is not our intention to put on a bizarre defense, although it would be possible to push the prosecution case farther out over the credibility gap. You could laugh the whole thing out of court."

This could be done, he said, through testimony that would portray the clan as even more bizarre than prior witnesses have indicated—so odd as to be unbelievable.

Transplant Techniques Advanced

By BERNARD HURWITZ
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Kidney transplant techniques have advanced to the point where a surgeon's greatest worry is that a patient may neglect to take his medication after he goes home, a noted transplant surgeon says.

Dr. Samuel Kountz, speaking Tuesday to about 600 attending the American Association of Blood Banks convention, also reported that costs for the life-saving kidney transplant operation have been reduced sharply.

"A kidney transplant now costs less than to have one's stomach fixed," said Kountz, who has performed 262 such transplants since 1964 with a 90 per cent survival rate.

Kountz, on the staff of the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center, said, "At UC the first 50 cost an average of $35,000 each. The next 100 averaged $17,000 and now they are less than $5,000."

Referring to postoperative deaths, he said, "The greatest loss we've had in grafts is failure of patients to take their required medication after they leave the hospital."

Appearing with Kountz was heart transplant surgeon Dr.

Norman Shumway of Stanford University Medical Center.

Shumway said that despite a lessening of publicity about his specialty, there is "no moratorium on heart transplants."

He has performed 27 heart transplants, the most recent on Oct. 15.

Shumway said he performed operations on nine of the 23 heart transplant patients in the world who are surviving today. One is Carl A. Shaeffer, 55, of Palo Alto, who observed the second anniversary of his operation last Monday.

Both surgeons, speaking at a luncheon, said the future outlook is for transplantation of virtually any human organ except the brain.

The word "Christmas" does not occur in the Bible.

President to Keep Up His Campaigning

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is resuming his energetic off-year election campaigning after clearing the way for a heads-I-win-tails-you-lose verdict from the voters on Nov. 3.

Well in advance of Nixon's departure for Republican rallies tonight in the Florida resort cities of Palm Beach and Miami Beach, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler spelled out for the first time the chief executive's precise campaign goal:

"To see how closely we can tighten the gap of tradition."

Those 11 words could mean Nixon is lowering his election-day sights and has abandoned hope of a Republican surge next Tuesday. Or they could signal a White House effort to set the stage for post-election claims of a triumphal Nixon intervention if GOP candidates make only a respectable showing.

Ziegler stated Monday that, traditionally, the president's party loses about 30 House seats in off-year balloting and "doesn't fare well in the Senate."

He noted, as has Nixon in some campaign speeches, that 120 years have passed since another president, Zachary Taylor, entered the White House—as did Nixon—to face a Congress controlled by the opposition party.

Ziegler's message was clear: Nixon is fighting uphill because all presidents elected from Taylor to Nixon went into off-year elections with the benefit of congressional majorities.

Thus, it would seem, the White House will be prepared to speak well of Nixon's efforts on the stump no matter what happens.

At the same time, Republican hopes of gaining control of the Senate have faded in recent weeks.

Yet Nixon doggedly continues his campaign for Republican candidates of his choosing, whether they are frontrunners or underdogs. And when he doesn't care to identify with GOP candidates, he stays away—as he has in New York, Montana, Washington and Virginia, each with either a seemingly unbeatable Democrat in the saddle or a friendly and apt-to-succeed third-party candidate or independent in the running against GOP opposition.

By White House accounting, Nixon will have campaigned in 21 states by election day. He will not return to the White House until after the balloting.

Because some writers have called this unprecedented, the administration has assumed a defensive posture. Ziegler declared that the late President John F. Kennedy had campaigned in 11 states and 24 cities in 1962 before his endeavors were derailed by the explosive Cuban missile crisis in late October of that year.

Nixon spent most of Monday entertaining Romania's President Nicolae Ceausescu, telling the Communist leader the United States recognizes the right of each nation "to be independent, to have its own policy without foreign domination."

Facilities Guarded in Philippines

MANILA (AP) — A private Filipino agency guarding several U.S. facilities here is under "close scrutiny" due to intelligence reports that most of its guards were hired upon approval of Huk rebels, a national police spokesman said today.

The owner of the G. E. Perez Security Agency, Gerardo Perez, has been under arrest since last week following the shooting deaths of two Philippine men and a U. S. Navy man at the U. S. Navy transmitter in a U. S. Tarlac Province, north of Manila. Their killer was shot to death by return fire.

A spokesman at the U.S. Clark Air Base said the U.S. had taken no action on the security contract. He said they had "no way of verifying" reports that the guards were hand-picked by a pro-Communist Huk commander.

Maj. Carlos Dato, the spokesman for national police headquarters at Camp Olivares in Pampanga Province, near Clark, said Perez denied he was involved with the killings or the Huks.

Man Came to N. America From Asia

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A noted scientist says new archaeological findings prove that man migrated to North America probably from Asia—30,000 to 80,000 years earlier than previously supposed.

"Man has been in America for more than 50,000 years," Dr. Louis S.B. Leakey told newsmen Monday. "We are satisfied that we have uncovered a new chapter in the history of man in America."

Leakey said small pieces of stone unearthed eight months ago in the Mojave Desert of Southern California show that man lived there at least 50,000 "and more probably 100,000 years ago."

Leakey, one of the world's best known experts on early man, announced the findings at the Leakey Archaeological Foundation, together with scientists who worked under his direction.

Earlier calculations placed man on the North American continent no earlier than 20,000 years ago. The new findings, in a gully near the desert town of Calico, now present scientists with a gap of at least 30,000 years about which they know absolutely nothing, Leakey said.

The stones found at Calico under 22 feet of topsoil apparently formed a hearth about 16 inches in diameter, he said. A colleague, Ruth Simpson, reported that magnetic tests showed the rocks had been subjected to intense heat.

Near the hearth were chips of stone that must have been used for scraping, perhaps to skin animals, Leakey said.

Leakey said carbon dating and other tests place the age of the stones at 50,000 to 120,000 years.

The nature of the soil prevented fossils or other signs of animal or plant life from being preserved, scientists said.

Asked Monday where the first North Americans come from, Leakey said, "They must have come from Asia. Your bison, your mountain sheep all arrived here fully evolved and undoubtedly came from Asia. Man must have followed them."

Agnew Launches Final Drive in South

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, launching a final campaign push in Dixie, says the Nixon administration's so-called Southern strategy is simply to play fair with the South.

"That's what it is, and that's all it is," Agnew declared Monday night.

And playing fair, Agnew told some 7,000 cheering Republicans in North Carolina State University's Reynolds Coliseum, "is exactly what we do."

The vice president hammered away at this theme in campaign appearances Monday here and in Greenville, S.C.

He pledged more Southern nominations to the Supreme Court, firm opposition to busing to achieve racial balance in schools and administration support for the textile import quotas so favored by the region's most important industry.

Lindsay Says Fear Tactics Being Used

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay has charged that President Nixon is personally accountable for introducing the tactics of fear into campaign efforts to eliminate his political foes.

The President's 1970 political strategy "has spread a cloud of suspicion and mistrust over our whole nation," Lindsay said Monday night at the Family of Man dinner at the New York Hilton Hotel.

"This is one of the few campaigns in memory in which men apparently seek not merely to defeat their opponents but literally to eliminate them from our public life," the mayor said.

Lindsay, a registered Republican, accused the Republican President and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew of abandoning party principles to claim "that opposition to their policies somehow is an incitement to unrest and violence."

"It is the voice of national leadership—lacked by writers, researchers and senior advisers from the White House and by the President of the United States," he said. "It strangely echoes the frightening voice of the fifties—when 'soft on communism' was the all-purpose weapon."

Lindsay, who has repeatedly denied rumors that he might switch his party affiliation, declared: "I believe that America and the Republican party traditionally stand for honorable goals honorably sought."

"But when the President and his lieutenants tell us to be afraid, when they pretend that respected candidates condone violence—as though Weathermen were running in this election—then they are deserting the essential principles of both country and party."

The mayor defended by name five liberal Democrats and one liberal Republican who, he said, were being unjustly attacked. They were Democratic Sens. Albert Gore of Tennessee, Vance Hartke of Indiana and Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts; the Rev. Joseph Duffey, Democratic candidate for senator from Connecticut; Sen. Ralph Yarborough, who lost in the Texas Democratic primary, and Republican Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York, whom Lindsay has previously endorsed.

Lindsay received the "Family of Man" gold medalion which the dinner sponsor, the Council of Churches of the City of New York, gave last year to Nixon.

Others who received awards were Kingman Brewster Jr., president of Yale University, and Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, undersecretary-general of the United Nations.

Changes to Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — John C. Weaver, president of the University of Missouri, has been appointed president of the University of Wisconsin.

The announcement Monday said Weaver would assume his $45,000-a-year post not later than Feb. 1. He succeeds Fred Harvey Harrington, who resigned Oct. 1.

Weaver, 55, is a University of Wisconsin graduate. He has been president of the University of Missouri since 1966.

Offers Way to Duck the Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr has offered a possible way to duck military service for some lucky ticket holders from the nation's first draft lottery.

He established a policy Monday that permits men who drew numbers over 195 in the December 1969 lottery to drop their student, occupational, fatherhood or hardship deferments and declare themselves 1A before the year ends.

Exposure to the draft for any part of the year counts for the entire year, Tarr said, and the candidates are then moved to a less vulnerable category in 1971.

Tarr said number 195 "has been projected as the highest number which any local board can reach" in 1970 and higher numbers appear safe as the Vietnam war de-escalates.

The procedure also would be "helpful in gaining an accurate picture of the nation's manpower situation," he said.

The dodge won't help ticket holders from the second draft lottery last July, however. They will be in the first-priority group facing the draft next year and shifting to the 1A category would merely expose them all year. But they could wait until late in 1971, determine their number's probable safety and then voluntarily join the 1A manpower pool.

The policy statement also asks local draft boards to give prompt consideration to requests to drop deferments and be reclassified as draft-eligible.

MODULAR HOUSING will put a roof over heads of future homeowners, according to authorities. The comparatively new building concept is being used in this 72-unit development at Bradford, Pa., where four units are assembled daily. Cost of the modular house is said to be about 25 per cent less than conventional construction.

Dynamite and Bombs Found by Police

DETROIT (AP) — Police say 25 sticks of dynamite and two "pipe bombs" have been found hidden in a black militant headquarters near where a policeman was shot to death.

The dynamite was discovered Monday wrapped in tinfoil in a box on a basement floor, police said.

Fifteen black youths were arrested when they surrendered at the building headquarters of the National Committee to Combat Fascism—NCCF—early Sunday after a nine-hour standoff with police.

NCCF is an organizing arm of the Black Panther party.

The 15 were charged with murder and conspiracy to murder Patrolman Glenn Smith, 26, whose death Saturday night brought 100 to 200 police officers to the area.

The shooting of Smith and the wounding of Patrolman Marshall Emerson Jr. occurred shortly after police arrested two youths who were selling Black Panther literature two blocks from the NCCF headquarters.

First Hopes Unrealized, U.N. Still Has Hope

By RALPH NOVAK

NEW YORK (NEA)—As Harry Wilson's eyes look out through the broad window of his 38th-floor office in the United Nations Secretariat building and see the muddled skyline and murky air of New York, his mind looks out at the muddled past and murky future of the U.N. itself.

"If I had wanted to be a big success or make a lot of money, I certainly wouldn't have come here," he says, sighing. "But it's a good job, an interesting job, and I do think we have achieved something in the last 25 years."

"Harry Wilson" is a highly placed U.N. official (Wilson is not his real name). He is a top assistant to an under-secretary general, one of eight in the U.N. His career spans the 25 years of the organization—only a handful can match his experience in the world body. And only a few can speak with as much authority about its history and meaning.

"This is a very frustrating job, partly because it's so difficult to get things done, partly because you're never allowed to say what you really think," he says.

Wilson ended a stint in the British army in 1945, disgusted with what he had seen in the war, determined nothing like it should ever happen again.

"There was a great deal of idealism among those who worked for the U.N. in those early days," he recalls. "Everyone was anxious to believe that the U.N. would be an organization with teeth. It wasn't long, however, before events—Berlin, the beginning of the Cold War and then Korea—made many people a lot more cynical about what this organization could do."

One of the problems, Wilson says, was that the U.N. had been "oversold."

"There never has been a world government and there won't be one in our lifetimes," he says. "The U.N. has had to realize it is operating under limitations imposed by the fact that it is an organization of sovereign states. It can only act when one of those states decides it is willing to give up a piece of its sovereignty, and a state will only make that decision when it genuinely wants something changed."

Hampering the U.N.'s peacemaking attempts, Wilson contends, has been the member countries' tendency to turn to the organization only in a crisis.

"When everybody is scared stiff, and in a hopeless, bloody awful mess, they realize the U.N. is no longer the crashing bore they thought it was and are frightfully glad it's there," he says. "That happened with Suez in '56, Lebanon in '58, the Congo in '60, Cyprus in '64 and the India-Pakistan disputes in '65."

Wilson counts those peacemaking ventures as successes for the U.N. But he sighs again and shakes his head when he talks about Vietnam, the Middle East and other problems the U.N. has not been able or allowed to solve.

"I get the feeling that there are all these problems and not all that much time to find solutions while we're just nibbling at them," he says. "All of our failures just make me more convinced we need the organization but it's discouraging to see how small our available resources are compared with the problems we face."

The absence of Communist China from the U.N. also worries Wilson. So does the organization's isolation from the rest of the world.

"Not having Red China here makes it impossible for us to deal with a large number of problems we should confront. Vietnam not the least of them," he says. "And I'm worried that instead of being something new, the U.N. is only a prolongation of the old diplomatic scene. I have nothing against diplomats, but I think we should strive to include people from other walks of life."

"Most of us have little contact with people outside the diplomatic circles— young people, for example—and I think it hampers us."

What is the U.N.'s future? "It will go on," Wilson says, shrugging and adding that its "great hope" is the Secretariat, the body of U.N. workers who work—in theory, at least—for the organization itself and not their native countries.

"The Secretariat has to be an international civil service and has to be recognized as such, so that if we send an Arab or a Jew on a peace mission to the Middle East he will be accepted not as an Arab or Jew but a U.N. representative," he says. "When (Dag) Hammarskjöld was secretary-general, the Secretariat began to assume more of an independent life of its own, but the member countries didn't like it and we never got the principle accepted."

Whether or not the United Nations can become more than a sum of its parts—a sum that on any given issue includes minuses as well as pluses—it has, Wilson says, "a good record in view of the difficulties."

"We are trying to control the excesses of an anarchic international society," Wilson says, trying hard and failing to avoid sounding like someone who believes that the world can be saved after all. "We are trying to provide a modicum of orderly procedure in the world. We are trying to make everyone a little more comfortable."

He Shook the Wrong Hands

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — Dr. Ross Pierpont, a congressional candidate in the 2nd District of Maryland, shook a lot of hands in the Harford County Courthouse Monday while waiting to testify as a physician.

But when the case was called, it was pointed out that the hands he shook included those of the jury members.

The judge ordered the case postponed. Pierpont said he was sorry but "if a voter has a hand sticking out, I'm going to shake it."

An earth-orbiting Nimbus-4 weather satellite is relaying temperature of steam emitted from volcanic, snow-capped Mt. Rainier, Wash., "on command" eight times a week as it passes over the 14,410-foot mountain. Flying at an altitude of 680 miles, the satellite receives radio signals from a temperature-monitoring station at peak of the mountain, relaying them to ground station at Fairbanks, Alaska. Land lines transmit data from Alaska to NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center near Washington, D.C. Major warming trends on the mountain could lead to melting of glacier ice and flooding of streams.

PERSONAL FINANCE

In addition to hot dogs, fast cars and baseball, most of us are addicted to another item that is peculiarly American—the shortcut.

Fortunes are made in this country not by building better mouse traps but by inventing quicker and easier ways to reach objectives.

When this ambition results in the permanent-press shirt, society is certainly benefited. But when the end product is a flimsy formula that's apt to mislead, the danger is obvious.

One such formula is the rule-of-thumb, showing that a family can afford to pay for a home.

The lure of the rule-of-thumb is easy to see. It provides a simple and ready reference that even the uninitiated can quickly grasp. Unfortunately, it is often accepted all too literally, forming the prelude to a gross financial misstep.

When it comes to housing, the difficulty of reducing decision-making to a flail rule is made obvious by the varied attempts to do so.

The most common is the "2½ times your income" approach. But there is also the "one week's income for one month's expense," and the "rule of 60." The latter stipulates monthly payments for mortgage, insurance and taxes can safely equal one-sixtieth of annual family income.

What each of these rules misses, of course, are the many individual differences that have a pronounced influence on family spending patterns.

It takes little imagination to see that a childless couple living on $15,000 a year can afford to spend considerably more for shelter than a $15,000 family with two kids in college and another on the verge.

There's not enough space to cover all the factors that affect house-buying, but here are several you ought to consider before you make any commitment:

Relative Importance—If family life centers heavily around the home, you may want to spend more than is usual on your house. If backyard barbecues and Saturday suppers are your bag, it makes sense to devote a larger proportion of your assets to your surroundings.

However, a family that boats, skis and likes to travel had better be a bit more cautious. The drain of such activities won't show up in any thumb-rule, but they will have a visible effect on the availability of funds.

Source of Income—Where your money comes from should affect your housing aspirations, too. Mortgage lenders, for example, have learned not to rely too heavily on the working wife's contribution to the family purse.

Pregnancy, family problems or just plain fatigue can reduce that portion of the income to zero almost overnight. Similar consideration should be taken of money that comes from such unstable sources as overtime pay, bonuses and moonlighting.

Auxiliary Needs—What other expenses will be facing you once you've bought that new house? Certainly it will require drapes and carpets, and perhaps added furniture, storm windows and landscaping. Its location may even require that you get another car for commuting.

Add all that up, and it may put a dent or two into an otherwise reasonable estimate of what you can pay for that new pad.

U.S. Sounds Out Others on Mid-East

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States is sounding out other members of the United Nations before taking a stand in the Middle East debate now under way in the General Assembly.

"We are consulting with other delegations," said a U.S. source. "Our precise position will depend on developments."

U.S. sources said Ambassador Charles W. Yost will speak in the debate but probably will wait until a resolution is introduced. He discussed the Middle East situation in separate talks Monday with Foreign Ministers Abba Eban of Israel and Mahmoud Riad of Egypt.

The United States and other members are moving cautiously until they find out what tack the Arab states and their allies intend to take.

Washington has made clear that it wants the Big Powers to do their utmost to enable U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring to resume his role as the go-between in indirect negotiations between Israel and Egypt and Jordan. But the United States has balked at fixing a target date for resumption of Jarring's mission. The Americans are still backing Israel's refusal to resume the talks until Egypt pulls back the Soviet anti-aircraft missiles which the United States and Israel charge have been moved closer to the Suez Canal zone in violation of the three-month cease-fire that began Aug. 7.

Egypt apparently hopes the assembly will call for resumption of the Jarring talks without mentioning any Egyptian cease-fire violations. This would make it difficult for the United States to withstand pressure from the other three members of the Big Four for unconditional resumption of the Israeli-Arab negotiations.

A group of African delegates, at the request of Egypt, have drawn up a resolution demanding that Israel resume the talks and quit all territory wrested from the Arab states in the 1967 war.

Israel has rejected the resolution. But radical members of the Arab group, led by Algeria, are reported to want the resolution expanded to recognize the right of Palestinians to return to their homeland, much of which is now Israeli territory.

Woman Slightly Hurt in Auto Accident

South on the Patmos road Tuesday an auto driven by Mrs. Bertha Hunt went out of control when she applied the brakes, sideswiped a parked telephone company truck, went into a ditch and fence. Mrs. Hunt sustained minor injuries.

Telephone workmen were engaged in laying a line. Mrs. Hunt hit the brakes when she saw the flagman but couldn't control the vehicle.

State Policeman Wallace Martin investigated and charged Mrs. Hunt with speeding too fast under road conditions.

Bumpers Does Not Intend to Stop Ads

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Dale Bumpers, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, said Tuesday that he had "no intention" of removing television advertisements that accused the administration of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of using the elderly and welfare recipients as political pawns.

Welfare Commissioner Len Blaylock had written Bumpers asking that the advertisements be removed.

The advertisements accused the Rockefeller administration of waiting until just before the election to raise welfare payments.

"I have no intention of removing the ad because the facts are there for everybody to see," Bumpers said.

He also said that Rockefeller did not want to debate him on television.

Rockefeller has implied that Bumpers backed out of a television debate.

Bumpers said that after receiving Rockefeller's letter proposing the debate four weeks ago, his representatives met with the governor's representatives.

Bumpers said nothing was heard from the Rockefeller forces until the news media put the "pressure" on Rockefeller.

Bumpers said a format had been worked out and that the stations had agreed to donate time for last Friday night. He said, however, that because of the delay on the part of Rockefeller's representatives he had already scheduled a meeting at Batesville for last Friday night.

Bumpers said he offered last Monday afternoon as a time for the debate but Rockefeller refused.

Bumpers also accused Rockefeller of not taking a stand on limiting campaign expenditures.

"This is an issue in the campaign," Bumpers said. "And, I have talked about it repeatedly since the day I filed for governor. The amount of money that is being spent on this campaign by that organization is unfair."

MacDonald said the killings were done by a hippie-like band of three young men and a girl who intruded in his Ft. Bragg apartment before dawn Feb. 17.

Captain Freed of Charges of Murder

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—The Army freed Capt. Jeffrey R. MacDonald today of charges that he murdered his wife and two young daughters last February.

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Flanagan, commander of the John F. Kennedy Center for Military Assistance, ruled there was insufficient evidence to justify the three counts of premeditated murder against the 27-year-old Green Beret physician.

Flanagan, who is MacDonald's commanding general, based his ruling on a 2,000-word report of a lengthy, secret hearing by Col. Warren V. Rock of Ft. Bragg.

The Army had charged that MacDonald stabbed and beat to death his wife, Collette, 26, and his daughters Kimberly, 6, and Kristin Jean, 2, and then stabbed himself as a cover-up and invented a story.

MacDonald said the killings were done by a hippie-like band of three young men and a girl who intruded in his Ft. Bragg apartment before dawn Feb. 17.

Trials, Tribulations to Be the Fraternity's Financial Secretary

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—"If you're looking to save on your vegetable outlays," the food salesman told James Joseph O'Connell, "buy some okra—I can give it to you half price."

James Joseph mulled over the offer. He had just been appointed financial secretary of his fraternity and had promised to tighten the budget.

"I'll take 500 pounds," he told the man.

The man took out a small yellow pad, moistened a stubby lead pencil and wrote down the order, smiling vaguely. "You'll get the delivery tomorrow," he said handling O'Connell a receipt.

O'Connell was relaxing the next day in the living room when a friend named Harry burst excitedly into the room and shouted: "Somebody just dumped two tons of a strange-looking plant growth near the kitchen door and now he wants twenty-five bucks from us—I suspect you, O'Connell."

James Joseph sighed unconcernedly. "Oh," he said offhandedly, "that must be our okra."

O'Connell walked casually out of the livingroom, then ran through the kitchen and looked out the back window. On the ground were maybe 50 big plastic bags, filled with little, oblong green things.

O'Connell paid the man and began loading the okra into the kitchen vegetable bins. He got about half the load in before the bins were overflowing. He put the rest behind the bar in the cellar and raced to find the kitchen cookbook.

The book told him that okra was cultivated widely throughout the world. Its pods were the only edible part and were used for such things as stews, soups and something called gumbo.

The book said that occasionally, and only occasionally, okra was served as a side dish.

"Hey, O'Connell, what's all that green stuff in the vegetable bins?" asked the cook entering the kitchen.

"Okra," O'Connell replied.

"But what are we going to do with ...?"

"Don't ask," O'Connell said, cutting off the cook and pointing to the spot he was reading in the cookbook.

The house sat down for dinner that night to spaghetti, meatballs and a side order of okra.

For breakfast the next morning, the house had bacon, eggs and okra. For lunch, chicken gumbo soup, hot dogs and okra. That night the cook came up with something call okra a la king.

Meals that followed included chop suey okra, steak with okra sauce, noodles okra, welsh okra, chipped okra on toast and pizza with mushrooms, pepperoni and okra.

But the cook's offerings of cherries okra and okra a la mode were not well received, and O'Connell's purchasing decision eventually became the subject of much criticism among the house members, who nicknamed him "Okronnell."

So James Joseph came up with an idea for getting rid of the by now detested vegetable.

"Let's have an okra party," he suggested enthusiastically to the membership.

The party was scheduled for the following Saturday and the RIISING to defense of those indicted at Kent State University, attorney William Kunstler, who defended the "Chicago Seven," said he would file suit on basis indictments are abridgement of civil rights.

Political Argument on Economy Has Enlivened Congressional Drive Bombers Hit North Vietnam Supply Routes

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP)—U.S. B52 bombers flew more strikes today against North Vietnamese supply routes through southern Laos.

The big bombers have flown more than 500 strikes in the region in the past 2½ weeks.

Many of the raids are concentrated in a 70-square-mile area just west of the demilitarized zone. The area is south of the Bang Hien River and north of the Khe Sanh, and there have been reports of heavy North Vietnamese movement through it toward the northwestern part of South Vietnam.

North Vietnam charged Tuesday that many U.S. warplanes, including B52 bombers, attacked Huong Lap Village in the northern part of the demilitarized zone last Sunday.

"We don't comment on propaganda from Hanoi," said a U.S. spokesman.

The B52s have concentrated their raids along a 200-mile stretch of the Ho Chi Minh trail through the southern Laotian panhandle. The campaign is so concentrated that no B52 raids have been flown in South Vietnam since Oct. 10.

Despite the massive campaign, sources said, there has been a sizable buildup of North Vietnamese troops in the northern quarter of South Vietnam. Informants said one North Vietnamese division is pushing from the west and is poised just southwest of Khe Sanh, and that one regiment crossed the demilitarized zone and is within 12 miles of the provincial capital of Quang Tri.

Tons of supplies were reported moving along a four-lane highway running southwestward from the DMZ into Laos and then circling around eastward to the north of Khe Sanh.

Meanwhile, Associated Press correspondent John T. Wheeler reported from Phnom Penh that Hanoi has committed almost another division to oppose a major Cambodian offensive expected to start this week north of the capital. The objective of the operation is to reorganize more than 1,000 square miles of Cambodia's heartland.

Cambodian troops operating near Kompong Thom, a provincial capital 80 miles north of Phnom Penh, were attacked Tuesday. First reports said one Cambodian soldier was killed and another wounded, and that 10 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers were killed.

WR Plans a Fact Sheet on Proposals

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Tuesday night that his "fact sheet" on things he proposed to do may be ready for distribution today.

Rockefeller first began displaying what he called his "fact sheet for the future" at Batesville Oct. 19. He said at that time it would be ready for release in a few days.

Rockefeller has made recurring references to the list, but it has not been released. Asked about it at a rally here, Rockefeller said, "I've been working late at night revising it and I think it's about ready."

A predominantly Negro crowd of about 1,500 gathered at Hestand Stadium to hear Rockefeller.

The governor delivered his standard campaign speech, which was about the same as the one he made at his other

Soviet Academy Willing to Build Space Ships Compatible With U.S. 2nd Soviet Plane Hijacked to Turkey

MOSCOW (AP)—The president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences said today that the Soviet government considers it "expedient" to build spaceships sufficiently compatible with U.S. spacecraft to permit Soviet-American docking and rescue operations.

Mstislav V. Keldysh told a news conference that Soviet space experts had just completed two days of exploratory negotiations with representatives of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Moscow.

In answer to a question on the prospects of close U.S.-Soviet space cooperation, Keldysh replied:

Community Center Bldg. Grant Sought

The Board of City Directors approved an application to the federal government for a grant of $335,990 toward the cost of developing a community center building. Under the federal terminology, the building is called a Neighborhood Facilities Building, which would be designed to accommodate recreational needs and all community activities.

The grant would cover 75 per cent of the total cost of the building and grounds. The 25 per cent matching funds required by the community will be covered largely by work performed by various city departments. All street work, lighting, utility connections, and parking lots can be constructed by the city and the cost credited as cash contributions.

The Hope-Hempstead County Community Center, committee composed of representatives of 11 different civic organizations, including Hope Public Schools and the City of Hope have been working on plans for a community center for the past year.

Gene White, Office Manager of the Hope Water and Light Plant, serves as chairman. The committee has been working with James G. McKenzie, architect from Little Rock, on preliminary design.

The preliminary design which accompanies the application, provides facilities for a wide range of community recreation and civic activities. The Hope High School student council started a program three years

Seek Gambler in Atlanta Robbery

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Police were searching today for a one-time Atlanta gambling figure who they said failed to come forward with a promised statement in connection with a robbery which netted between $100,000 and $200,000 Monday night.

The robbery occurred in northwest Atlanta at the home of a girl friend of Gordon "Chicken Man" Williams, according to Lt. J. R. Shattles and Detective W. H. Byrd. Most of the victims had attended the Muhammad Ali-Jerry Quarry fight earlier Monday night.

Byrd said Williams had promised to come to police headquarters and give a statement but had failed to keep the appointment.

His girl friend, Barbara Smith, and another woman were taken hostage by six to eight masked gunmen who, according to police, methodically robbed some 100 party-goers of jewelry, clothes and cash. One woman was released but Miss Smith was still missing, police said.

Williams, registered as the owner of the house in a fashionable black neighborhood, has a three-page police record, including arrests for narcotics and gambling offenses, police said.

The robbery took approximately three hours as the party-goers, hearing at ringside about the party, entered a few at a time. Some of them even received engraved invitations.

According to witnesses, the "guests" were greeted at the door by a smiling woman and shortly thereafter by a bandit wearing a ski mask and carrying a sawed-off shotgun.

The victims were taken to the basement where they were forced to dump their jewelry and cash in the middle of the floor. Some were forced to disrobe, witnesses said.

Most of the victims were from out of town and only five filed complaints. The loss involved in the five official complaints amounts to about $7,500, police said.

Angela Davis on Hunger Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Black revolutionary Angela Davis is on a hunger strike at the jail where she is being held for extradition to California, one of her lawyers says.

Margaret Burnham, the attorney, said Miss Davis refused to eat after being isolated from other prisoners in the Women's House of Detention.

"She is only asking for equal treatment, the same treatment given the other women," Miss Burnham told newsmen Monday.

Jail officials said Miss Davis had been given private quarters, but was permitted to use the library one hour a day.

She had been charged with murder and kidnapping after being accused of buying guns used in an attempted prisoner escape Aug. 7 in San Rafael, Calif., in which four persons were killed. She was captured here Oct. 13.

We are indebted to our old friend, Gordon Keel of Vancouver, B.C., for today's hand.

Gordon sat West, doubled four spades and proceeded to lead king, ace and a third club. East trumped with the ace and at this point the declarer, Prof. Nathan Divinsky of the University of British Columbia, made a play that Gordon considers one of the most unusual ever made at the card table.

The professor underruffed! We go along with Gordon in admiring that play. Bridge literature is full of examples of players making contracts by underruffing as the start of coups or by ruffing winners. Invariably, these coups are against the man to their right. Dr. Divinsky's coup was against the man to his left in an effort to hold his loss to one trick.

His reasoning was that East's ruff with the ace had clearly indicated a singleton trump. That left Gordon with two trump tricks unless a coup could be developed.

East led the queen of hearts. South won in dummy and ruffed a club. Then he cashed one high trump to make sure that East really didn't have another spade. Next came the ace of diamonds, a diamond to the king and a diamond ruff. Then the doctor cashed his ace of hearts and led a low spade to end-play Gordon and hold the set to one trick.

Of course, no one had compelled South to bid four spades but we can't criticize that slight overbid. We have overbid more than that on many occasions.

Self-control Can Lick Heart Irregularities

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Dear Doctor—I have been informed I have a left branch bundle block for which there is no cure or treatment, and depending upon when the condition developed would determine how much longer I had to go.

Dear Reader—You may have a long time to go. I knew one dentist who had this problem for over 24 years and was still in good health. I have also seen a number of apparently healthy men in the Air Force flying crews who had this problem. Many of them continued to lead active normal lives in the subsequent years.

Left bundle branch block is an abnormal finding in the electrical heart tracing (electrocardiogram or ECG). Normally, the right and left side of the heart's muscular pumping chambers are electrically stimulated at the same time. This is accomplished by special nerve-like tissue which we call the right and left bundles.

When the electrical stimulation to the left side of the heart is delayed, it can cause "left bundle branch block." The left side of the heart still pumps as strongly as ever, although its pumping action is sometimes delayed about .04-second.

The only importance of the finding is what caused it. Some people develop left bundle branch block because of a previous inflammation of the heart—such as that occurring when the heart is involved in rheumatic fever. One healthy young man I saw with this problem developed it from childhood diphtheria.

Left bundle branch block may be caused by atherosclerosis or fatty deposits in the arteries of the heart or even a heart attack. Even after a heart attack, you may still lead an active life if you have a good recovery. Look at former President Johnson who had a heart attack in 1955, over 15 years ago. You can't judge how well a person is going to be from an electrocardiogram. You have to look at the whole patient. If left bundle branch block is part of an over-all picture of severe heart disease, then the outlook may not be so good. If it is found in a young, healthy, vigorous individual it may not mean much.

If the cause of the condition is not known, a safe and wise approach would be to follow good living habits. If you smoke, stop. Limit your coffee to two cups a day or less. Adjust your diet along the lines recommended to prevent heart disease. Get rid of any excess fat. Start a proper exercise program—GRADUALLY—if you don't get enough activity. And that is good advice even if you don't have left bundle branch block. With a good program you might live to bury your doctor.

Dear Doctor—If I have the male sterilization operation, can my wife still get pregnant?

Dear Reader—Probably, but it is unlikely that you will be the father.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Bridge of Sighs is an enclosed footbridge in Venice, Italy, built in the 16th century. The World Almanac says the bridge got its name because it connected the Doges' Palace with the state prison to which prisoners were taken after trial in the ducal palace.
